Making nanotechnology happen

Largest nanotechnology event in Northern Europe

NTNE 2007 is the largest nanotechnology event in the region.

The main objective of NTNE 2007 is to bring together the academic world and the nanotechnology industry in order to create a venue where the possibilities of nanotechnology business solutions are found.

NTNE 2007 enables partnering between key players in the field, from scientists and small innovative companies to global leaders. There is also a great opportunity to meet investors.

Join our evening networking events to create new connections in a relaxing environment!

Combining innovative research and business development

NTNE 2007 Congress brings together 500-600 participants from over 25 countries. The event gives a great overview of the nanotechnology field: academic speakers present their latest research and company speakers introduce their newest product innovations and business models, aiming for open communication between academic and industrial communities.

In 2007, the congress program consists of three application driven themed days:

- Tue 27 March:
Business Development and Education
- Wed 28 March:
Electronics & Photonics / Instruments & Tools
- Thu 29 March:
Nanomaterials / Nanobiotechnology

NTNE 2007 Exhibition

NTNE 2007 Exhibition is the key venue for introducing the latest developments in nanotechnology instruments and tools, as well as finding your partner for research and development.

NTNE 2007 Exhibition is held in parallel with ChemBio Finland 07, the most significant event in the field for chemistry and biotechnology in the Baltic Sea region. Combination with the nanotech exhibition provides exciting synergies between these truly interdisciplinary fields. The exhibitions are expected to attract more than 8000 visitors.

Lunch and coffee areas are placed in the exhibition hall, giving excellent opportunities for networking and establishing new contacts.
